

Social Orders: Crash Course World Mythology #5

Available at <https://youtu.be/PBbTkzakiM8> or just youtube/google "Crash Course World Mythology 5"

1. Myths often tend to focus on dualities, or _____, and one of the key ones we find is a _____ between men and women. And this binary opposition frequently sets women as _____ to men.

2. How does Genesis 2 in the Bible explain the creation of man and woman?

a. This passage also explains _____ and describes a _____ in which men leave their parents' household when they marry to have their own homes.

b. One way to interpret this is that it provides _____ for man's _____ over women as punishment for what one woman did in disobeying God.

c. How does Greek mythology create a similar rationale for misogyny with the story of Pandora?

d. This concept that a social order of male dominance and female _____ resulting from women acting out of turn is _____ to the Biblical or Greek tradition; we find a similar story in _____.

i. This rationale established male _____ and female subservience.

e. There is often a strong connection between myths and _____.

f. The Biblical, Japanese, and Greek explanations _____ for human toil, pain, and disease on _____.

